TRAVIS EFAC OPEN TO SUPPORT MILITARY FAMILIES

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. – In response to the Nelson Fire near Fairfield and Vacaville, California, the Travis Air Force Base installation commander has ordered evacuations in accordance with the Solano County fire department's mandatory evacuations, August 10, 2018.

The latest evacuation orders can be found here: <https://local.nixle.com/city/ca/fairfield/>.

Once the evacuation order has been lifted, additional information will be released through the comptroller squadron regarding reimbursement of lodging and per diem expenses for mandatory evacuees.

There is currently no lodging available on Travis Air Force Base and members are directed to stay with families and friends or locate commercial lodging outside of the evacuation area.

Military members and their families are encouraged to contact the Emergency Family Assistance Center if they need assistance with relocation due to evacuation. It can be contacted 24/7 at 410-490-3537 or 707-290-5166 or 707-365-6738.

There is currently no threat to the Travis Air Force Base installation.

Media inquiries can be made by contacting the 60th Air Mobility Wing Public Affairs office at (707) 290-1169 or lyndsey.horn.1@us.af.mil.
