FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
July 18, 2018

Our leaders closely followed the serious allegation concerning two five-year-old children at the Travis Youth Center. Upon notification, immediate action was taken to inform affected families and engage appropriate agencies on and off base to both thoroughly investigate the incident and review procedures. This includes notifying Family Advocacy, who then works with Child Protective Services in the local community. The proper notifications were completed as soon as possible.

Within 48 hours of the alleged incident, the Youth Center implemented plans to provide additional oversight improving our existing high levels of care. This includes assigning dedicated hall monitors to carefully monitor/watch over children who are using the restroom and transitioning between classrooms. These additional precautions were immediately put in place last Monday.

Providing our families a safe environment to live and work is paramount. We take every child safety and welfare concern seriously and will continue to cooperate and communicate with our families and relevant agencies to ensure we focus on safe, healthy, and professional child care.

Our service professionals are always open to feedback and promote the use of the multiple support agencies available, to include both Family Advocacy and off-base specialists. It is our responsibility to both support our customers and refer them appropriately to external agencies. Our goal is our families' goal: to provide the best care possible for the men, women, and children of Travis Air Force Base.
